Flexible Degree Pathways

Students coming directly out of high school or adults training for a new career can earn a certificate or an Associate Degree on the way to earning a Bachelor’s Degree.

Students who already have an Associate in Arts or Associate in Science Degree can transition directly into a Bachelor’s Degree program.

Flexible degree pathways mean that you have more choices, more opportunities to enter the workforce sooner and more opportunities to earn credits that will count toward a four-year degree.

Here’s How to Apply
